A Reliable Remedy

FOR

CATARRH

Ely's Cream Balm

is quickly absorbed.

Gives Relief at Once.

It cleanses, soothes,

heals and protects

the diseased membrane resulting from Catarrh and drives away a Cold in the Head quickly. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. Full size 50 cts. at Druggists or by mail. Liquid Cream Balm for use in atomizers 75 cts.

Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

ANDRO LUCHINI,

Professional Accordion

Player.

Weyl Bldg., Sonoma.

Italian and English Selections.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm will master catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. All druggists sell the 50 cent size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

The Balm is used without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. Ely's Cream Balm contains no cocaine, mercury nor other harmful drugs.

"ORAN AMOK!"

The Bloodthirsty Malay When He Is Maddened by Frenzy.

"Amok" is a religious fanaticism, a madness under which a man makes up his mind to kill any one he can until he himself is killed. Brought on by drink or religion or from whatever cause, the process is the same. The madman seizes his creese and rushes headlong down the street, cutting at every one he meets. To any one who has seen a creese or a parang further detail is unnecessary.

A man running amok is as a dog with hydrophobia, but the panic caused by the former is by far the worse. Like the mad dog, the madman is followed by a noisy rabble, who sooner or later run into their man and exterminate him. When this vengeful rabble is made up of bloodthirsty Malays and Chinamen its wild rage and fury are beyond control, beyond description. The clamor and bloodcurdling yells of the pursuing crowd and the ever nearing shout of "Oran amok, oran amok" are incidents which can never be forgotten by any one who has seen or heard them. The bravest quail when suddenly turning the corner of a street his ears are greeted with the cry of "Oran amok" and a few yards off he sees a Malay running straight at him, brandishing in his hand the bloody creese with which he has already slaughtered all in his way.—London Chronicle.

THE USEFUL SWALLOWS.

Light Cavalry of the Avian Army and Friends of the Farmer.

From the standpoint of the farmer and the orchardist perhaps no birds more useful than the swallows exist. They have been described as the light cavalry of the avian army.

Specially adapted for flight and unexcelled in aerial evolutions, they have few rivals in the art of capturing insects in midair. They eat nothing of value to man except a few predaaceous wasps and bugs and in return for their services in destroying vast numbers of noxious insects ask only for harborage and protection.

It is to the fact that they capture their prey on the wing that their peculiar value to the cotton grower is due. Ordoles do royal service in catching weevils on the bolls, and blackbirds, wrens, flycatchers and others contribute to the good work, but when swallows are migrating over the cotton fields they find the weevils flying in the open air and wage active war against them. As many as forty-seven adult weevils have been found in the stomach of a single cliff swallow.—Bulletin of Department of Agriculture.

Breaking Away From Work.

Our business men, ought to break away from trade exactions long before they do—ought to do so as a matter of volition and ethical judgment rather than of physical necessity. They ought to get and give more enjoyment in life. They ought to do less for self and more for others. They ought to live more in books and more in the open and less at their desks and realize better health and longer lives as a result. More and more culture in all its forms is exercising a growing influence, which must manifest itself in lessened effort along the lines of money getting and the devotion of more time on the part of our business men to the pursuits which naturally accompany fortified leisure. Aristotle said, "The end of labor is to gain leisure," and Aristotle was a wise man.—A. Barton Hepburn in Century.

Sleeping Car Trips.

"I have noticed one thing about sleeping car journeys," he remarked, "and that is that I always sleep better coming home than I did going away. Whatever may be the cause, such is the case. Sometimes leaving home a man has worries or thoughts that won't let him rest easily, and by the time he finishes his work in the place he went to his mind has swung around all right again. It doesn't make the slightest difference whether I have an upper or a lower berth when I make the trip away. Then I can't sleep. On the contrary, I can sleep anywhere on the way home."—New York Sun.

His Worthless Son.

There lives an old negro truck farmer in Alabama who has frequent occasion to reproach his children for their lack of industry.

"Yo' suttinly is a worthless son," the old fellow declared one day to his oldest. "It's a doggone good thing fo' yo' I ain't a rich nigger."

"What yo' talkin' 'bout, pap?" asked the son. "What yo' think yo' do den?"

"I'd disinherit yo'! Dat's what I do!" exclaimed the old man wrathfully.—Lippincott's.

Sidelapped.

Father (at supper table).—Well, Johnny, how did you get along at school today? Johnny—Papa, my physiology books says conversation at meals should be of a pleasant character. Let's talk about something else.—Chicago News.

Musical Reception.

Brown—What did your wife say about your being so late home the other night?

Jones—Nothing at all. She just sat down at the piano and played "Tell Me the Old, Old Story."

Preaching and Practice.

Ted—I hear he's giving a lecture on "How to Live on 15 Cents a Day." Is he doing well with it? Ned—Fine. I met him in a restaurant after the lecture, and he was eating a two dollar dinner.—Puck.

Old fools are more foolish than young ones.—L. Rochefoucauld.

GEORGE HANGS A PICTURE.

But He Couldn't Do It Without His Wife's Able Assistance.

"George, I wish you would hang that rose picture tonight."

"All right, my dear, I'll do it now. Get me the stepladder."

"I should think you might get the stepladder yourself."

"Where is it?"

"Where it is always kept. On the top of the cellar stairs."

"That's where it is supposed to be. Where is it now?"

"It is either there or up in the back room, or—let me see—I loaned it to Mrs. Johnson yesterday. No, she brought it back, and I left it on the back porch. Oh, yes, I know where it is. You'll find it in the pantry off the kitchen."

After twenty minutes' search the ladder is discovered. George locates the spot for the picture and climbs up. "Now hand me the picture, my dear."

"Yes, here it is."

"Where's the hammer?"

"I thought you had it."

"You thought I had it! You knew very well I didn't have it. Get it for me right away."

"Where's the nail?"

"Didn't you get a nail either?"

"No, I didn't get a nail either. I supposed if you wanted me to hang a picture you'd have the tools ready. Where's the picture cord?"

"Well, for heaven's sake! Why didn't you look to see if there was picture cord on it before you went up there to hang it?"

"Get me the cord and don't stop to argue. I'm getting dizzy up here."

"Well, here's the cord. What else do you suppose you'll want?"

"Well, I don't want any more of your lip. I can hang this picture without that!"

Whereupon she left him to get along as best he could. "Just like a man," she remarked as the hammer fell to the floor.

"Just like a woman," he muttered as he descended. "Just like a woman! They've got nothing to do and all the time in the world to do it, and then, by jingo, they leave it to a man!"—Detroit Free Press.

DID HIM A FAVOR.

His Apparently Innocent Request Cost the Bank Dearly.

A customer having a fairly good balance, never going below four figures, at a London bank hurried in one morning and asked to see the manager. The usual civilities were exchanged, and the cashier explained that he was making a rather good investment and had promised to pay £1,000 the next day.

"Well," said the manager, "there's no difficulty about that." "Precisely," was the rejoinder, "but will you do me a small favor?" "What is it?" queried the manager. "I want my friend to see that my paying him £1,000 will not exhaust my resources. Will you, therefore, oblige me by instructing all the my clerks (and they were numerous) to cash my check when it is presented to cash my check when it is presented without referring to the ledger to see how my account stands? It will make a good impression on my man, and it cannot do you any harm, as you know what my balance is." (It was a little over £1,000.)

"Certainly, if you particularly wish it," replied the unsuspecting manager, for his customer's name had been long on the books, and there had never been any trouble with him.

When the check was presented the next day at a particular desk the clerk, without going through the formality of referring to the customer's account, pleasantly inquired, "How will you take it?" and handed over the amount without ado.

The same little ceremony was gone through at four other pay desks, each clerk, acting upon instructions, cashing Mr. C's check for £1,000, making £5,000 in all, or nearly £4,000 in excess of the wily customer's balance.

And, of course, when Mr. C received a polite note requesting him to call at the bank he was not to be found.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A Fashion Garrick Killed.

Women of England in the eighteenth century wore large hats. Samuel Rogers once traveled to Itanagh in the same coach with a woman who was compelled to sit on a stool on the floor of the coach on account of the inconvenient height of her headdress. Hannah More, who was all for simplicity in costume, writes in her diary that she has seen women wearing on their heads an acre and a half of shrubbery, besides slopes, grass plots, tulip beds, clumps of peonies, kitchen gardens and greenhouses. The credit of killing this fashion is given to Garrick. He appeared one night on the stage with a mass of vegetables on his head and a carrot suspended from each side, to the shame and confusion of many fair members of his audience.

Dr. Johnson's Resolutions.

Dr. Johnson compiled this list of good resolutions on his fifty-first birthday in 1760: "Resolved, Deo Juvante, to combat notions of obligations; to apply to study; to reclaim lungathons; to consult the resolves on Tetty's coffin; to rise early; to study religion; to go to church; to drink less strong liquors; to keep a journal; to oppose laziness by doing what is to be done tomorrow; rise as early as I can; send for books of history of war; put books in order; scheme of life."

The Proper Way.

"I would like to ask," said a lady visiting America for the first time, "when you call here do you turn down the end of your visiting card or not?"

"No," said a man; "you bite it in the middle."—Ladies' Home Journal.

How He Got Out of It.

"I finds you," said Brother Dickey as he entered the house of the lay member at the dinner hour—"I say, I finds you settin' down befo' one or de biggest dinners I ever seen, an' I wants ter ax you, plain an' simple, did you or did you not come by it honest?"

"Bro' Dickey," replied the lay member, "dis is one time in my life dat I got too full fer utterance"—Atlanta Constitution.

NOISY WEDDINGS.

Boisterous Prelude to Marriages in Old Rothenburg.

They love music in Rothenburg, and it is an incident of most functions, public and private. In front of the Rathaus, when wedding formalities are going on inside, hired musicians loudly drum and trumpet, whereat the people come running from all directions, for a wedding is not carried on with the quietness which would please the shy and retiring. Marriage is a sacrament neither lightly nor secretly entered into.

On the night before the wedding it is considered de requiem to hunt old pots and pans against the house of the bride with boisterous good wishes, and without these delicate attentions a bride would really feel slighted. Her two best friends wait upon her during the din and give her a wreath and a veil and some verses composed in her honor, and that the verses are curiously like those offered to brides in the past, except for necessary changes of name, is not at all a drawback. Weddings are usually on Tuesdays, and they take from 7 o'clock in the morning till 4 or 5 o'clock in the afternoon, including the time at the town hall. At the home there will likely be a play given in which are set forth the supposed follies of the bride and groom, and some friend, misquoting as a cynic, will come in and give whatever kind of prophecy best accords with his wit.—Robert Shackleton in Harper's Magazine.

MEXICANS' STAFF OF LIFE.

The Tortilla Is Their Bread—Frijoles Are Boiled Beans.

The tortilla is the ancient Indian bread of Mexico. Its only constituent is Indian corn (maize), which the women soak in lime-water until the kernels are at the point of bursting, then wash thoroughly until it is free from lime, when they grind it by rubbing it on a large block of stone, especially cut for the purpose, with a smaller stone which they hold in their hands. The operation looks very much like rubbing clothes on a washboard and is a laborious and tedious one. The lime renders the corn dough adhesive, like wheat flour dough, and it is easily patted between the hands into cakes the size and shape of an ordinary grid-dlecake and is baked upon a thin stone griddle. Though no salt or lard is added, fresh tortillas are exceedingly palatable.

The one other food mainstay is frijoles—ordinary beans. They are boiled to a mush and with a liberal quantity of lard are warmed as required in a flat earthen dish that answers for a frying pan. The very poor people do not always have the luxury of frijoles and when they do have them cannot always afford the lard.—New York Sun.

Odd Death Certificates.

Certificates of death are not documents where one usually seeks for humor, but there is frequently to be found in them much of the unconscious variety. Here, for instance, is how the cause of death is stated in the case of a laborer:

"Died from injuries received through a bull accidentally kneeling on his chest."

The consideration shown for the feelings of the bull is a fine touch and suggests grave questions on the moral responsibility of the lower animals.

Again, a man is stated to have "died from the effects of injuries received after being run over by a misunderrstanding between deceased and an engine driver." This description of a rather ordinary railway casualty is excellent.—London Express.

Sensitive Tobacco Plants.

In Cuba the best tobacco comes from one strip of land only, the slopes of a certain river, and even there a north wind may ruin the crop. Tobacco is the most sensitive plant we know of. The smallest thing affects its flavor. Plant Virginia tobacco in Germany, and the result is a better tobacco, but it is German tobacco, not Virginian. In North Borneo they produce the most delicate and silky leaves that ever were seen, but the tobacco lacks character and taste. Send Havana seeds to the Philippines, and you merely produce a superior Manila.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Homemade Names.

"That little girl," remarked the druggist to the doctor, "was just in for 10 cents' worth of tincture of benzoin. But I've had it before and gave her benzoin."

"That was easy," answered the doctor. "This morning on a diphtheria case the woman wanted to know if I administered antitoxin with an epidemic syringe."—New York Press.

Just the Opposite.

"When I first met you," cried the woman who had been married for her money, "you occupied a low, mental position, but now, thanks to me, your position—"

"Is a hymeneal one," her husband interrupted.

A Reflection.

"To my surprise," she said, "I found he had a lock of my hair. How could I not imagine?"

The older girl smiled oddly.

"When you were out of the room, perhaps," she hazarded.—Chickadee Enquirer.

Just the Opposite.

"You are a poor young man?"

"I am."

"Then what you want is a thrifty, economical wife."

"Not at all. What I want is a rich, liberal wife."—Democrat Telegraph.

Crumbling Walls of The Old Mission.

The crumbling walls of the old Mission San Francisco Solano in this place have mutely appealed to the Woman's Club and not in vain, and the ladies have energetically undertaken the task of eliciting public interest in the restoration and preservation of this ancient and historical landmark, which has been shamefully neglected by the commission appointed by Governor Gillett to foster and care for it. It is proper, fitting and most timely that the Woman's Club has come to the rescue of the old Mission built by the Franciscan friars over seventy-five years ago and around which is interwoven much of the early history of California.

As a preliminary, a mass meeting of citizens has been called by the Woman's Club to meet at Union Hall next Saturday evening to take some definite action to save to the State and to posterity this forerunner of christianity and civilization in Alta California.

Automobile Races in Santa Rosa. Driving Club Holds Meeting.

The next big attraction in California's automobile world will be the two days automobile races in Santa Rosa on Saturday and Sunday, September 25 and 26, for which the Santa Rosa Automobile Association is making much preparation. Three thousand dollars has been expended in the banking of the turns of the track for these races and thus speed records and safety for drivers are assured. Automobile men say that the Santa Rosa track is now the fastest in the state.

The racing card provides for six big events each day and the lists already are well filled with entries. Included in each day's events are the fifty and twenty-five mile free for all stock cars. In both events will be seen the Loxier car that won the three hundred mile endurance run at Tanforan a week ago. There will also be the Maxwell, Stearns, the Buick 40, the Winton and others. Great time should be made.

Slit His Wife and then Hanged Himself.

Stuart Faudre of Forestville, in this county, after fatally shooting his wife Tuesday upon the streets of Ukiah where she had fled from her home, hung himself to a "sour apple tree", in an orchard about half a mile from the scene of his crime. To make doubly sure of self-destruction, he had climbed upon a box and fastened the rope to a limb of the tree. He then placed the noose around his neck, blew out his brains with the pistol with which he had shot his wife and kicked the box from underneath him. When found the next day by a party of searchers he was as dead as a whistle. Faudre had lived in the Forestville section since boyhood and his marriage to the young woman he shot on Tuesday night, occurred when she was about sixteen years of age. It was an elopement, and had a tinge of romance connected with it. Her name was Maude Linton, adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Linton. It is claimed that the marriage was celebrated before Faudre had been divorced from his previous wife for a year. She was a pretty girl and as time passed by Faudre is said to have become insanely jealous of her. She left him on a number of occasions, and he went after her and induced her to come back home. A short time ago she left him and went to Ukiah, and he went there to see her.

Patriotism

The stomach is a larger factor in "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" than most people are aware. Patriotism can withstand hunger but not dyspepsia. The confirmed dyspeptic "is fit for treason, stratagems and spoils." The man who goes to the front for his country with a weak stomach will be a weak soldier and a fault finder.

A sound stomach makes for good citizenship as well as for health and happiness.

Diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are promptly and permanently cured by the use of

$100 REWARD $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Frank L. Blackburn, the administrator of the estate of George Carlsen, also known as George Beck, deceased, having filed his petition herein, duly verified, praying for an order of sale of the whole real estate of said decedent, for the purposes therein set forth:
It is therefore ordered by the Judge of said Court that all persons interested in the estate of said deceased appear before the said Superior Court on Monday, the 27th day of September, 1909, at ten o'clock (10) o'clock A. M., of said day, at the Court-room of Department Two of said Superior Court, at the Court House, in the City of Santa Rosa, County of Sonoma, State of California, to show cause why an order should not be granted to the said administrator to sell so much of the real estate of the said deceased at private sale, as shall be necessary.
And that a copy of this order be published at least once a week for four successive weeks in THE SONOMA INDEX-TRIBUNE, a newspaper printed and published in said county.
EMMET SEAWELL,
Judge of the Superior Court.
Dated August 25th, 1909.

Eph. Weiss, the expert refractologist and optician of San Francisco, will be in Sonoma at the Union Hotel, Oct. 2nd.

Stoves, Ranges, Window Shades for sale at Petaluma Furniture Co., 157 Kentucky St. All orders delivered free of charge.

P. Basaglia is making arrangements to erect a cottage on his lot on the north side of Napa street west of the Catholic Church.

Jas. O'Rourke returned from a short hunt on Sonoma Mountain last Wednesday evening, bringing with him a four-pointer buck that had fallen before his unerring aim.

Porch Screens, Hammocks, Porch Furniture of all kinds at Petaluma Furniture Co., 157 Kentucky St. All orders delivered free of charge.

Sebastiani & Co. have installed a large motor in their winery in the eastern suburbs of town which they will use in crushing grapes and for other purposes this vintage.

The 618th anniversary of the Independence of Switzerland will be celebrated by the Swiss residents of Sonoma and Marin at Kenilworth Park, Petaluma, next Thursday.

The hottest days ever experienced in this valley prevailed here Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The heat was intensified and made almost unbearable by a fierce forest fire raging in the vicinity of the Petrified Forest and other sections of the county.

Lumber is on the ground for a twelve-room residence on the Chas. Filippini ranch near this place. It will cost between $4,000 and $5,000. Contractor Caccia of San Francisco will erect the building, which will be of modern design in every particular.

Reuben Woodworth returned Monday evening from a three-days hunting trip near Cazadero. Reuben is one of a few truthful deer hunters we have interviewed this season. He actually acknowledged that he had not killed even one buck during his sojourn in the mountains near the coast. Most deer hunters tell of getting the limit, which of course nobody believes.

CITY VISITOR IN SERIOUS TROUBLE.

Hurls a Beer Bottle at a Man and Falls into the Hands of the Minions of the Law.

D. Whitey, who hails from San Francisco, while slightly under the influence of liquor, entered Fetter's club house at Agua Caliente, Thursday afternoon, and made an unprovoked assault upon Edward Shovlin, an employee at that resort. Seizing a quart bottle of "Grace Bros. special brew," he hurled it at Shovlin's head. It missed him, however, and went crashing into a large and costly mirror, which adorned the bar, utterly ruining it.

Deputy Sheriff Joe Ryan was phoned for and hastening to Agua Caliente placed the offender under arrest and haled him before Judge Small. A warrant was then sworn to by Shovlin, charging his assailant with "an attempted assault with a deadly weapon with intent to do great bodily harm," or something of that sort. Anyhow, the legal and dreadful sounding verbiage nearly scared the young fellow to death and he boo-hoed like a big baby, as he pictured in his mind's eye the local bastille with doors yawning wide open to receive him. He begged the prosecuting witness piteously to let him off, but was reminded by officer Ryan and the court that he was in the hands of the law and that the arresting witness had no say in the matter at all.

Whitey did not deny the assault and Judge Small held him to appear before the Superior Court to answer to the charge, placing bail at $100.

Being unable to furnish cash bail he was locked up, but shortly after was released from custody on a bail bond furnished by Tony Happe, the hotel man, who took compassion on the prisoner.

A Wild Night.

Saturday evening last about seven o'clock a gale commenced to blow in this valley and in a short time it had assumed the proportions of an East India hurricane. Pedestrians were swept almost off their feet at times by the force of the gale, which bent the trees almost double and filled the air with dust and debris. The gale continued throughout the night and did not subside until daylight. It was a wild night which deprived most people of their slumbers, but which did very little damage.

Early in the evening the electric light plant was put out of commission and the town was in darkness for many hours, which added to the terror of old Boreas antics.

RELIEVED OF COIN IN METROPOLIS.

Glen Ellen Man Cruises Along the Barbary Coast and is Robbed of $900.

J. Pucci, a well known farmer of Glen Ellen, went to San Francisco last Monday afternoon on business. He carried with him $1000. After paying a few bills he started out to see the town with the remaining $900 in his pocket. He finally drifted into the Barbary Coast region and meeting a number of "good fellows" in a Pacific street saloon, started in to have the time of his life.

After a few rounds of drinks at Pucci's expense, he was suddenly pounced on from behind, knocked down by the "good fellows" and robbed of the remaining $900.

The men then made off and disappeared in the darkness. The police were notified of the robbery and early Tuesday morning arrested two men on suspicion of being concerned in the hold-up, but no money was found on them.

City Trustees Fix Tax Levy.

At a meeting of the City Trustees held last Monday evening the tax levy for the year 1909-10 was fixed at 90 cents on the $100 of assessed valuation of all property within the city limits.

COUNTY NEWS ITEMS

Cloverdale had an $800 fire Sunday afternoon.

Fierce forest fires have been raging in many places in this county the past week.

Dr. Bogle of Santa Rosa has resigned his position as division surgeon of the Southern Pacific Co.

Mrs. Lougee, widow of the late Frank Lougee, died at her home in Petaluma Sunday at the age of 84 years.

Brakeman Phelps of the Northwestern Pacific had one of his hands so badly crushed while coupling cars at Occidental, one day this week, that it had to be amputated.

A cottage and thirteen tents were destroyed by fire at Burke's sanitarium near Santa Rosa Sunday. The main building had a close call but was saved by volunteer fire fighters. The cause of the fire was an explosion of gasoline.

Mrs. Mary E. Stephens, widow of A. Stephens, who was run down and killed by an automobile in Petaluma last May, has commenced suit in the Superior Court of this county against H. N. Maxwell of Oakland, the owner of the machine. The widow claims damages to the amount of $5,142.

The Supervisors and the Tax Levy for 1909-10.

On Monday, September 20, the Board of Supervisors will meet and set the tax levy for the ensuing fiscal year. The Supervisors got their heads together Saturday in an informal conference, and talked over the matter. It is probable that the new tax may be $1.80, or ten cents less than the levy last year. Or it may be five cents less. At any rate it is likely that it will be a reduction. On September 20, the Supervisors will also fix the special school tax. County Superintendent Montgomery has prepared an elaborate report for the use of the board in the latter matter.

AN ATTEMPT TO COMMIT SUICIDE.

Despondent Woman Shoots Herself in Head—Bullet Fails to Penetrate Brain and She May Recover.

Mrs. Goetgen, an elderly lady residing on First-street West off Broadway, made an attempt at self-destruction about 10 o'clock Monday morning.

She secured a 38-calibre revolver which was fully loaded and lay down on a bed in her sleeping apartment. Pressing the weapon against her forehead near the right eye-brow she pulled the trigger and sent a bullet crashing against her skull. It failed to penetrate and plowed its way under the skin and across the frontal bone, making its exit four or five inches from where it entered.

No one was in the house when the shot was fired and the unfortunate woman lay unattended upon the bed in a helpless and semi-conscious state all day long.

Late in the afternoon her plight was discovered by her daughter, Mrs. A. Entleman, who resides in another part of town, and who dropped in to the Goetgen home to pay her mother a visit. The unfortunate woman was unconscious and the bedding was saturated with blood that had flowed from the self-inflicted wound. Beside her lay the revolver, which told the tale of attempted self-destruction. Dr. Leix was hastily summoned to the bedside of the would-be suicide and found her very low from the shock and loss of blood. An examination of the wound revealed the fact that although the bullet had failed to penetrate the brain its impact had possibly slightly fractured the skull.

The chances for Mrs. Goetgen's recovery are about even. No cause is assigned for the rash act, which was undoubtedly committed in a moment of temporary aberration of mind.

Sub-League Organized.

A meeting of High School athletic representatives was held in Healdsburg on Thursday afternoon of last week and the Northwestern Sub-League was organized as a branch of the A. A. L. Representatives were present from the following high schools, which compose the new League: Sonoma, San Rafael, Ukiah, Willets, Petaluma, Healdsburg, Napa and Vallejo.

The schools of Sonoma, Napa, Mendocino and Solano counties, which were not represented at the meeting may join the League upon application.

The following were elected officers to serve for one year:

President—Ralph Rose, Healdsburg.
Vice-President—Fred. Thomas, Ukiah.
Secretary—Harry M. Lutgens, Sonoma.
Treasurer—E. A. Lee, San Rafael.

President Ralph Rose will appoint committees to arrange for meets between the various schools. A field and track meet will be arranged for this fall between the various schools belonging to the League.

Change of Time on the Northwestern Pacific

Passenger Train Delayed.

The south-bound Northwestern Pacific passenger train was delayed for some time Sunday morning by the burning of a small trestle between this place and Buena Vista station. The trestle caught fire some time Saturday night during the big wind storm and nothing was known of its being destroyed until the engineer of the morning passenger train made the discovery just in time to avoid a wreck. The trestle was temporarily cribbed up by the section men and there was no further delay of trains. The origin of the fire is unknown but it is supposed to have been started by a spark from a hobos camp fire.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL NOTES.

Doings of the Various Sets in Both Town and Valley.

Miss Amelia Ciucci visited in the metropolis Monday.

Miss Alice Soderberg spent last week in Santa Rosa.

Dr. Hays made a business trip to San Francisco Saturday.

Little Jack Nauman is up from the metropolis visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hotz made a business trip to San Francisco Monday.

Misses Maye and Eva Hickey spent the week in San Francisco with friends.

W. Wiget was in town from Glen Ellen last Wednesday transacting business.

Frank A. Riser, local manager of the P. I. Company, El Verano, transacted business in Santa Rosa Monday.

Misses Mable and Edna Boyd of San Francisco spent Saturday and Sunday at the Lutgen home on Napa street.

Mr. and Mrs. Werner have moved from the Clerici place on Napa street to the Dal Poggetto cottage on Second-street East.

Mrs. A. Morton, who has been visiting here, returned to her home in San Francisco Sunday. She was accompanied by Mrs. A. M. Thomson, who will spend a few days with her.

This (Saturday) evening Miss Amy Poppe, the talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. J. Poppe of Glen Ellen, will give a reading and recital in Union Hall. Among those who will assist on the program are Misses Emily Poppe, Helena Clewe, Ida Waterman and others.

Well-Known Opera Stars to Appear Here.

One of the best and greatest singing shows to visit our city this season will be "The Singing Bandits," headed by the well known artists, Thos. H. Perse, tenor, and Miss Edith Mason, prima donna, assisted by a specially selected cast including such well-known singers and actors as Miss Bernice Holmes contralto; George Knowlton, mezzo soprano; Noble Grayson, basso; Robt. McKim, baritone, and those well-known comedians, J. Reeves and Bert Phoenix.

"The Singing Bandits" was especially written for Mr. Perse and Miss Edith Mason by Mr. Herman Perlet, the well-known composer and musical director, who also wrote such successes as "When Ruben Comes to Town," "Mademoiselle Hawkins," etc., besides numerous songs.

The company was selected with the idea of each one to fit its own character in the play. The company carries its own scenery and everything is complete to give a first-class production and we can assure our theatergoers of a splendid evening's entertainment.

This company is billed to appear at Union Hall on Wednesday evening, September 22d. It will be a great treat to lovers of music and it were well to secure seats in advance Simmons' drug store.

SERIOUS CONFLAGRATION NARROWLY AVERTED.

Few people in this city are aware of the narrow escape they had from being burned out of house and home while the wild wind storm was holding high carnival near the midnight hour last Saturday.

Near twelve o'clock the Drs. Leix, who occupy the upper floors of the Dal Poggetto building, observed burning embers being wafted in every direction by the high wind and upon investigation discovered that they came from a blaze which was roaring like a furnace on the roof of the building. An alarm was given and instantly responded to by Neil Trudgen, James Modini and Geo. Goess, three young men who happened to be in the near vicinity. Mounting to the roof of the building they discovered the cause of the blaze to be a sack of charcoal which had been left there by plumbers who had been working on the second-story of the Postoffice building. Just how the charcoal became ignited is not known. The young men soon succeeded in smothering the flames, which in a few seconds more would have burned their way through the tin roof, and a terrific and general conflagration would have followed as no human agency could have stayed the flames in the face of the gale that was blowing from all directions of the compass.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Dal Poggetto Entertain.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Dal Poggetto entertained eighteen or twenty of their friends from San Francisco and Benicia at their beautiful residence on Broadway last Sunday. Among those present were: Mr. E. Patrizi of L'Italia, Mr. and Mrs. J. McLean, Mr. and Mrs. L. Mastropasqua, Mr. and Mrs. G. Bertini, Mrs. C. Ferri and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. E. Scosseria, Misses Henrietta Setaro and Elvira Baciocco, Mr. J. Zertanna, Master Eddie Furen all of San Francisco, and Misses Edith and Irene Passalacqua of Benicia. The gathering was in honor of the thirteenth birthday of Master Newton, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Dal Poggetto. Delicious refreshments were served and games and music played and a very pleasant afternoon was whiled away.

GLEN ELLEN ITEMS

Mrs. Linymaster and daughter are visiting with Mrs. Brand.

Mrs. Davis, wife of Captain Davis, U. S. A., is visiting at Casa Wagner.

Miss Nellie Gordenker, who was very ill at the California Woman's Hospital, San Francisco, is rapidly recovering.

Miss Lucy Zane has left for Seattle, where she will meet her brother, who is en route home from the Klondyke.

The Woman's Improvement Club of this place will give a concert at Mayflower Hall on Friday night, September 24th, in which the star attraction will be Mrs. Richard Rees, a prominent vocalist of San Francisco and a talented young girl violinist also of that city. These will be supported by the best of local talent. The concert is given for the benefit of a public library, which the club women will open here in the near future.

The Woodmen of the World's entertainment here last Saturday evening was a great success financially as well as otherwise. Mr. Jack London gave a very interesting lecture on the evolution of the struggle for existence and evolution of industry. He claimed that the present system of production will be ruined by the accumulation of a surplus of products all over the civilized world. The musical part of the entertainment was very good, too, and everybody enjoyed the little Hebrew farce produced by Messrs. Wicham and Wells.

CALENDAR DAY IN SUPERIOR COURT

Many Cases Disposed of Monday by Judges Seawell and Denny, Who Put in a Busy Day.

Monday was a busy day for Superior Judges Seawell and Denny, who disposed of many cases on the calendar.

In Judge Denny's department Antone Perry was named guardian of the estate of Katy Perry in a bond of $5,000.

Carrie Cassani was named administratrix on the estate of Chas. Cassani in a bond of $1,100.

The contest in the George P. Wilcox estate was set for November 16th.

The estate of Belle O. Butts was set aside for her minor child.

Angelo Delmaestro was named administrator of the estate of M. Martinelli without bonds.

The final account of the estate of Margaret M. Ronald was transferred to Department One.

A sale of personal property was ordered in the estate of John Zanolini.

The final account was settled and distribution ordered of the estate William Butcher.

These probate matters were continued: Estate of James D. Gaudenzio to October 4, Chas. S. Ure to September 27th, and S. Jensen to October 4th, Joseph Purrington, to September 20th.

The demurrer was sustained in the suit of The Foster Company vs. L. C. Chopius and ten days were allowed to answer.

The demurrers were submitted without argument in the suits of People vs. Hobart et al., and Shea et al.

The settlement of the statement in the H. S. Gird estate was set for September 14th.

The suit of F. A. Meyer vs. W. C. Stradling was set for trial October 26th.

These civil matters were continued: S. B. Wright vs. Northwestern Electric Company et al., petition of J. A. Porter to appraise homestead, to September 27th; Gillen vs. Dieter, Tomasini vs. Smith, Hutchins vs. Metzger, to September 20th; Paxton et al. vs. Henry Meyerholtz et al., to October 4th.

In Judge Seawell's department a petition for a sale of realty of the estate of Thos. O'Gorman was granted.

The demurrer in the suit of Hinshaw vs. Newburger et al. was overruled.

These matters were continued: Miller vs. Deiter, Hanks vs. Hanks, Sonoma Land Company vs. Northwestern Pacific railroad company, de la Tour vs. Miller, Page vs. Wickersham, Uhlmann Co. vs. Norris, Cassassa vs. Cassassa, Carr vs. Sutro, to September 20th.

The demurrer in the suits of the State vs. Shea, Stanton, et al., were submitted and overruled.

The trial of the suit of Cassassa vs. Cassassa was set for November 9th.

The trial of the suit of White vs. White was reset for September 15th.

The information was dismissed in the case of the People vs. Stockli.

The trial of the suit of the Anglo Californian Bank vs. N. W. Griswold was reset for the first Tuesday in December.

The trial of the suit of the Connecticut Fire Insurance Company vs. Rosenberg was set for January 4th.

TRANSCONTINENTAL EUREKA LINE.

Proposed Extension of Northwestern Pacific Now in Hands of Railroad Officials.

A dispatch from San Francisco under date of 14th inst. says that Julius Kruttschnitt, director of maintenance of way of all the Hariman railway lines, President Ripley of the Santa Fe system and Captain Payson, president of the Northwestern Pacific, arrived in that city from Chicago last Tuesday.

These officials, who have all the say in the matter, report that the proposition to build an extension of the Northwestern Pacific into Eureka is now before the boards of directors of the Southern Pacific, Santa Fe and Northwestern Pacific for final determination.

A decision in the matter will probably be rendered within thirty days.

"I am unable to say at present whether the extension will be built," said Capt. Payson. "I laid all of the facts before Mr. Kruttschnitt and Mr. Ripley. They held several conferences and have made a report. What that report is, nobody but those who made it and received it, know."

"The building of the extension hinges on two things. First is the possibility of eliminating to a great extent the sea competition. The second is the development of the redwood industry. Of course the general development of the country is a consideration, but that is not so great as the redwood question. At present redwood is practically unknown in the east. It is of great commercial value, but its use will have to be developed. If the powers that be are convinced that a large market for redwood as a finished product can be developed, the Eureka extension probably will be undertaken."

The extension will be 110 miles and will cost in round figures $8,000,000. The cost will be borne jointly by the Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific, which control the Northwestern Pacific, and by the people who will be directly benefited.

The Eldorado Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Quartaroli announce elsewhere in these columns the opening of their new hotel, The Eldorado, which occupies the site of that famous hostelry of the early days. The new hotel will be run as a first-class resort, and when the main building is completed will be one of the most commodious hotels in this city and will add much to the appearance of Spain and First-street East, where it occupies a prominent corner.

Now is the time to lay concrete sidewalks. See Trudgen, the stone mason, about it.

Sonoma, September 18, 1909.

Kissing.
To steal a kiss is natural. To buy one is stupid. Two girls kissing is a waste of time. To kiss one's sister is proper. To kiss one's wife is an obligation. To kiss an ugly woman is gallantry. To kiss an old, faded woman is devotion. To kiss a young, blushing girl is—quite a different thing. To kiss one's rich aunt is hypocrisy. Kissing three girls on the same day is extravagance. To kiss one's mother-in-law is a holy sacrifice.—New York Sun.

The Pantaloons Gown.
Oh, have you heard the latest news? It's Madam Mode's decree. Not petticoats, must be. The pretty, duffy, lacy things must now be laid aside. And trousers baggy at the knees. The ankle neat will hide.

But if the female sex must steal These garments that by right Are man's special property. Why wear them out of sight? Why not discard the trailing skirt. Dear sisters, cousins, aunts And mothers, wives and sweethearts, too. And holdy don the pants? —Minna Irving in New York Press.

Two Merchants.
It was one fellow's hopeful dream To money make. He only made, as it would seem, A sad mistake. His coat is old; he seldom needs. He catered unto woman's needs. Another and a shrewder man, We must admit, Evolved or figured out a plan. That made a hit. Now in his touring car he jaunts. He catered unto woman's wants. —Kansas City Journal.

The Seven Ages of Greatness.
Long hair and a windmill tree. A cigar given your name. A brand of whisky with your patronymic.

Requests for autographs. A collar called after you. A calendar made from your aphorisms. "Complete works," with notes and an appendix.—Brooklyn Life.

Vacation.
To wander where the scented breeze is blowing. To loiter where the pebbly stream is flowing. That's vacation. To count the cost of it and feel a sorrow. To call up a friend and make a borrow. That's the day after. —Philadelphia Ledger.

Question?
Is it better to take no vacation, I say. But simply imagine the rest there is in it. Than be so ding tired with getting away That you cannot enjoy it one blessed minute? —Boston Globe.

Recognition.
"How do you recognize an infant industry?" "Like most infants," answered Senator Sorghum, "it is recognized by the amount of noise it makes when it wants to be noticed." —Washington Star.

A Chinese Puzzle.
Ching Ling Lung and Chang Long Luey could not get enough chop suey. One day they ate until they died. Did they commit chop sueyicide? —Success.

A Fallacy.
"All the world is in love with a lover" Is a line that should go to the shelf. For what love could you ever discover For the man who's in love with himself? —Omaha World-Herald.

Up in the Air.
Mrs. Jagsby (welcoming Mr. Jagsby at daybreak)—Up all night again, eh? Mr. Jagsby—Yes, m' dear, thash jush it. Went up with Misher Wright in his airship last evening an' he couldn't get it down.—Puck.

In Cupid's Court.
Judge Cupid at the prisoner. Did look somewhat astir. "You stole a look," he said. "Your guilt is patent at a glance." —Baltimore American.

Something Exciting.
"What period have you selected for this historical novel?" asked the publisher. "I shall not use periods," answered the author; "nothing but exclamation points." —Smart Set.

Modern Version.
"Man wants but little here below." And it is for the best. As woman's life is all for show. Of course she wants the loony. —Lippincott's Magazine.

Is't So?
Caller—If there are but seven original jokes, how in the world do you fellows keep writing more? Humorite—My dear man, we keep improving the seven.—Boston Globe.

The Latest.
The latest thing to win applause From girls who are fad "moony" Must truly be a "craze," because It makes them pants-loony. —Kansas City Times.

A Seasonable Malady.
"I see that more than 12 per cent of the Annapolis cadets are suffering from heart trouble." "Well, it's June, ain't it?" —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Book Book.
I chatter, chatter as I flow To join the brimming river. For men may come and men may go, But I go on forever. —New York Life.

Accounted For.
Stella—Why do you make a mountain out of a molehill? Bella—How can Italy lie beyond the Alps if there aren't any Alps?—New York Sun.

Paradoxical.
Descriptions oft describe amiss. But that's the joke-smith's forte. For women pale are sometimes flush. Tall men are often short. —New Orleans Times-Democrat.

She Knew the Saint.
Margery's cousin, Cecilia, was eight—en and pretty. She was also devoted to music and spent hours practicing on a large pipe organ. This, together with the fact that she invariably wore a rapt expression when so engaged, earned for her the nickname of St. Cecilia. It happened that Margery's mamma was called to town and left her five-year-old daughter in charge of an obliging neighbor. This lady undertook to amuse her young guest by showing her a collection of prints, among which was a copy of the familiar presentation of the patron saint of music seated at the organ. "This, my dear," said the obliging hostess, "is a picture of St. Cecilia." "It doesn't look a bit like her," spoke up the tiny visitor.

"Why, how do you know?" inquired the astonished owner of the print. "How do I know?" returned the equally astonished Margery. "Why, St. Cecilia is my own first cousin. She taught me my prayers an' how to play juckstones."
